'Domestic Violence Today' Discussion on Oct 15 with an Expert at YWCA Greenwich

Author : David Gurliacci

Categories : Community Organizations, Talks-Panel Discussions-Presentations-Workshops

Tagged as : YWCA Greenwich 2019

Date : October 8, 2019

Professor Susan Sorenson of the University of Pennsylvania, an expert in domestic violence will discuss with Meredith Gold, YWCA Greenwich director of domestic abuse services, how domestic violence has evolved from a private family matter to a human rights issue.

— an announcement from YWCA Greenwich

They will also discuss whether and how violence is tolerated, impacts on the community and the role of firearms.

The discussion will take place from 6:30 to 8 p.m. (or 8:30, according to another YWCA announcement), Tuesday, Oct. 15 at the YWCA Greenwich, 259 East Putnam Ave.

The event is free and open to the public. REGISTER HERE.