In an effort to aid those affected by Hurricane

Darien Sport Shop will donate a percentage of all in-store sales on Friday and Saturday, Sept. 1 to 2 to the American Red Cross in support of relief efforts for Hurricane Harvey, the store announced Thursday.

HELP for HARVEY

In an effort to aid those affected by Hurricane Harvey, we will be donating a portion of all sales, Friday-Saturday (9/1-9/2), to the American Red Cross.

We are also accepting donations of new and gently used clothing.

The store will also accept donations of new and gently used clothing.

The store's announcement did not say what percent of sales will be donated.

More Sport Shop Giving

Darien Sport Shop is hosting a free "Back to School Carnival" on Sept. 9 at the store, with "complimentary face painting, hair braiding, balloon making, games, prizes, snacks, refreshments, and more!" the store announced on Facebook.

"Pick your favorite charity! We are pleased to donate B2S [back-to-school] sales that day to Kids in Crisis, Make-A-Wish Connecticut and United Way of Coastal Fairfield County."

Americares Rings the Bell

Stamford-based Americares rang the closing bell for the New York Stock Exchange in order to highlight relief efforts for Hurricane Harvey victims.
