In Darien's 2015 local elections on Tuesday, voters will have choices on who to support for first selectman and members of the Board of Selectmen.

The top five candidate vote getters for either first selectman or selectman will be voted onto the board, so long as no more than three members of a single party are voted in, according to state law.

Here's the response of each of the first selectmen candidates to the 2015 League of Women Voters of Darien questions, as posted on the league's website (the written responses are different from statements given in the candidates' forum):

Candidates were asked to respond to this question:

How do you envision balancing redevelopment and infrastructure proposals while preserving our town character?
