Tilley Pond Park is looking particularly lush this summer, thanks to contributions from Tree Conservancy of Darien.

The local non-profit recently planted 30 trees in the well-utilized park, which included a memorial to Keith Barker, former owner of the Gardener's Center of Darien.

Other Tree Conservancy plantings include the Center Street South parking lot (in back of CVS) and Ledge Road. TCD is planning another planting project this fall. For more information about Tree Conservancy, email info@treeconservancy.org.
