The Wall Street Theater, which recently opened its doors in Norwalk after undergoing a $10 million-dollar renovation, has released its schedule of upcoming events.

About the New/Old Theater

The historic theater showcases professional music, comedic, dance and stage performances from nationally recognized names, as well as local organizations.

Located at 71 Wall St. in Norwalk, the 700-seat theater recently underwent a $10 million-dollar project to restore this national historic landmark to its original glory from the early 1900s.

Originally known as The Regent when the location opened in 1915 featuring Vaudeville performances, the theater was also known as The Norwalk and The Roxy (during this time period, the theater was outfitted as a movie theater showing such blockbusters as “Jaws” and “Blues Brothers”).

During its tenure as The Globe in the 90s, the stage featured many up-and-coming performers on tour such as Beastie Boys, Lil’ Kim, Psychedelic Furs, Mighty Might Bosstones, Poison and the Allman Brothers, until it shuttered in the late 90s. The building remained dark until it reopened as The Wall Street Theater this past summer.
