An announcement from Person-to-Person on Facebook:

P2P welcomes Damone Johnson as a full-time caseworker in the Darien office

Damone worked as a Case Planner at the Children's Aid Society's General Preventive Program.

He also served as an intern at the Community School Student Partnerships, a program dedicated to providing inner city youth with academic enrichment opportunities to help improve math and reading performance in West Philadelphia public schools.

Damone is founder of the Spoken Word Project, a faith-based youth poetry group based out of the Bronx aimed at spreading positivity and improving writing and public speaking skills in the community through poetry writing and performance.
