In this workshop, learn how “less is more” in your palette for good color harmony, and learn to work with the colors of your choice.

Many painters feel bound by the colors they see, which can lead to predictable paintings that lack drama, no matter how well they are painted. It’s important to learn how to harness the power of color and use it to communicate your artistic vision.

If you are ready to embark upon new level of color exploration, don’t miss this workshop! Suitable for all levels and media — acrylic, oils, pastel, watercolor, etc.

Patti lives and works with her fellow artist and jazz musician husband in New York City and Nyack, New York. For more information visit pattimollica.com.

The fee for the two-day workshop is $315. To register, please visit RowaytonArts.Org/Registration or call 203-866-2744 (x 2).
