Sometime between 8 p.m. on Saturday, Oct. 13 and 8 a.m., the next morning, a black 2013 Ford Explorer, unlocked and parked outside, was entered, police said.

The glove box and center console were each opened and rifled through. The SUV was unlocked. Other vehicles parked outside the house at 170 Raymond St. were locked and showed no evidence that they were tampered with, police said.

Police added:

- We again wish to strongly remind residents that unlocked vehicles remain an easy mark for perpetrators looking for money, electronic equipment and other valuables. No other motor vehicles were reportedly entered in the area.
