Sometime Overnight from Sunday to Monday, Jan. 8 to 9, a car parked overnight in the garage of a house on Red Rose Circle was entered, Darien police were told.

The owner of the 2014 Audi Q5 said his wife parked it in the garage at 9 p.m. and thought she'd locked the overhead garage door and the door from the garage to the house.

At about 7:30 a.m., the man, 37, noticed that the overhead garage door was open and the car's glove box was open, its contents on the seat. It didn't seem to the victim that anything was missing.

Police don't know whether or not the woman left the garage door open by mistake or whether someone was able to open it with a device.

When asked by police, neighbors said they hadn't seen, heard or known of anything suspicious about the incident.
