When Dubois Street man or woman (the police announcement didn't say which) checked his or her bank account, he or she noticed two checks had been written out to two people he or she didn't know.

He or she then checked his or her checkbook and found three checks had been removed from it. He or she blocked any payments on the third check.

When he or she contacted Darien police at 6:31 p.m., Tuesday, Feb. 4, he or she told them he or she was unsure who might have stolen the checks, but he or she gave police a listing of people who recently had been in his or her home.
