A 13-year-old Darien boy was reported missing after an argument with a family member at home in the Noroton section of town, Darien police said. He was found hours later in downtown Stamford.

He left home Sunday evening, and was found, safe and unharmed, after a search had continued for several hours. He had walked to downtown Stamford, police said Monday afternoon in a Facebook post, adding:

"Darien Police Department would like to thank the Noroton Heights Fire Department, the Stamford Police Department, and the community for all of the assistance provided."
