

Latest on Metro-North Disruption After Manhattan Fire

Author : David Gurliacci

Categories : Transportation

Tagged as : Metro-North 2016, New Haven Line 2016, Train Service After May 2016 Fire

Date : May 18, 2016

The Tuesday fire in Manhattan that halted train service from Grand Central not only disrupted Wednesday morning's commute, but threatens to do so for days to come.

Commuters faced crowded trains arriving on a Saturday schedule, and sometimes, according to reports, not stopping at all at certain stations, even when scheduled. In Darien, a Planning & Zoning Commission meeting had to be cancelled when the commission couldn't get a quorum — some members were stuck in Manhattan when the trains stopped running late Tuesday afternoon.

To help keep up with the latest developments, we've attached to this article two Twitter feeds: One from Metro-North, the other for all tweets with #MetroNorth in them. That should have links to up-to-date information on the situation, not only from Metro-North, but from other, independent sources:

Tweets by @MetroNorth

```
!function(d,s,id){var js,fjs=d.getElementsByTagName(s)[0],p=/^http:/.test(d.location)?'http':'https';if(!d.getElementById(id)){js=d.createElement(s);js.id=id;js.src=p+"://platform.twitter.com/widgets.js";fjs.parentNode.insertBefore(js,fjs);}}(document,"script","twitter-wjs");
```

Darienite

News for Darien

<https://darienite.com>

#MetroNorth Tweets

//