Dana Goodfellow will teach “From Realism to Abstraction” on Thursdays from 2 pm to 5 p.m., beginning June 4 for four weeks. The goal of this class is to use theories of composition, layout, design and perspective to allow for stronger realistic or abstract paintings. This class is a mixture of students whose work is either realistic or abstract or a mixture of both styles.

The first half hour will be dedicated to teaching time using a combination of lectures and demonstrations. Students will then have time to paint on their own while keeping contact with Dana through the Zoom platform. Individual instruction and encouragement will be given throughout the class to help each student reach their goals. The fee for this class is $110.

Christy Gallagher will teach “Watercolor and the Landscape” on Tuesdays from 10 a.m. to 4:10 p.m. beginning June 9 for six weeks. Though everyone is still staying at home, there are many ways to paint in our gardens and our neighborhoods. Another way is to paint from windows — inside or outside — each window offering a chance to observe our surroundings in new and exciting ways.

Each class will begin with a 30 to 40 minutes on Zoom where Christy will compare two different artists from history, to provide a guide on how to approach the days lesson in a fresh new way.

The class will reconvene again at 3:30 p.m. to discuss the work done during the interim. This class is most appropriate for Intermediate and Advanced watercolor artists. The fee for this class is $160.

Susan Fehlinger will teach “Painting with the Palette Knife” on Tuesdays from 2:00 pm to 4 p.m. beginning June 9. In this interactive online class, students will learn the joys and challenges of painting with the palette knife.

The class will be painting from photographs covering a variety of subject matter to show how versatile this tool can be. Participants will also be experimenting with mediums to achieve transparent glazes and layering effects in oils or acrylics. The fee for this class is $110.
