A Mansfield Avenue resident told police on Monday, Aug. 12, that a fraudulent check for $7,400 was cashed against the victim's bank account.

The complainant (who was not described as either a man or a woman) told police at 11:55 a.m. that when the complainant checked his or her bank account, he or she noticed the $7,400 check.

The victim called the bank (the name of which police did not provide), which was unable to give the exact location where the check was cashed, but that it was somewhere in the Glenbrook section of Stamford. The victim closed the bank account.
