Robert C. Dolan passed peacefully on June 9, surrounded by his family, friends and longtime companion. He was 69.

Bob, a lover of blues piano, cats, and the beauty of nature, was originally from Darien. After graduating from Wentworth Institute of Technology, he moved to Antrim Street in Cambridge, MA.

Through friends, he discovered Westport, MA, and made that his second home. He began his career as an architectural model builder, becoming a master model maker and partner with The Model Shop in Cambridge.

He worked closely with prestigious Boston and Cambridge architectural firms, building the original models for much of the Boston skyline we know today. He went on to become a founding partner of Three D Solutions, continuing to provide architectural and creative services for almost two decades.
