

Teen Girls Invited to Discussion at the Depot on Teen Dating Violence, Sept 25

Author : David Gurliacci

Categories : Darien Depot, Teens

Tagged as : Amanda Posila, Center for Family Justice, Teen Dating Violence 2017

Date : September 9, 2017

Some experts have said one in four girls between 13 and 21 is experiencing some form of teen dating violence; and one in 10 girls is experiencing physical teen dating violence.

— This is an announcement is from Darien Depot Youth Center.

Amanda Posila, Training Director from The Center for Family Justice will be at the Depot Monday, Sept. 25, 2017, to bring an invaluable presentation on teen dating violence; the signs, prevention of dating violence and where to get help.

This discussion is sponsored by The Depot's "Girls Night Out" program and the Darien Domestic Abuse Council, and is strictly for high schoolers only.

Pizza and salad will be served at 6 p.m., discussion begins at 7 p.m.

Please sign in through Eventbrite.

For more info please contact Janice Marzano janice@dariendepot.com.

Editor's note: This event was originally announced as taking place Sept. 11. The date will be Sept. 25, two weeks later.