Thank you, Elizabeth Hall and Reeve Boeckmann for your volunteer work with the Carver Foundation, and recruiting others to volunteer there, too.

—This article is part of a series of daily articles profiling the volunteers recognized in May at the Darien annual volunteer recognition luncheon organized by the Community Fund of Darien.

Elizabeth Hall and Reeve Boeckmann's Work With the Carver Foundation

Elizabeth and Reeve started a community service club at Darien High School to help students find organizations where they can volunteer.

Besides inviting Carver to join their list of organizations, they, along with other volunteers they recruited, helped with Carver's annual Halloween party and Thanksgiving basket stuffing.

They have led their peers by example and shown what it means to serve their community!

About This Series

- The profiles in this series were presented at the 2019 volunteer recognition luncheon held at the Darien Community Association and recorded (in this video) by Darien TV79.
- Darien runs on volunteers — from our churches to our town government, schools, political parties, sports teams, three fire departments and our local nonprofits. They're the largest part of what makes this town a community. With this series we want to thank them and hope to encourage them.
- Darienite.com is running this series now, while more people are thinking about whether they
