The Connecticut Office of the Arts (COA) is currently accepting applications from individuals who are interested in an internship through the Arts Workforce Initiative \(AWI\).

— an announcement from the Connecticut Office of the Arts

AWI provides paid internships to Connecticut college students, emerging creative professionals and military veterans at various arts and culture organizations throughout Connecticut.

COA will select 37 individuals, a combination of college, emerging professionals and veterans, who have experience in or wish to grow professionally in the areas of arts administration, arts presenting/curating, media arts, performing arts, visual arts, arts education, and literary arts.

These individuals will be matched with an organization that is aligned with their specific professional goals and desired career track.

To be eligible, an individual must:

- Be a Connecticut resident
- Have availability to successfully complete the program (internships must take place between June 1, 2019 and Sept. 30, 2019)
- Have experience in or wish to grow professionally in the following categories: arts administration, arts presenting/curating, media arts, performing arts, visual arts, arts education, and literary arts
- Be enrolled in an accredited college or university or be an emerging arts professional (for the "40 and Under" category)
- Be a veteran of the U.S. Armed Forces (for the "Veterans In the Arts Workforce" category)

Have questions? Contact Adriane Jefferson at 860-500-2328 or via email.
