Police on Monday night cited three Darien teens for minor drug violations after finding them smoking pot at Talmadge Hill Railroad Station.

At about 7:50 p.m. on Jan. 2, an officer on patrol there spotted the trio standing outside a vehicle parked at the station's lot, according to a police report.

Approaching them, the office smelled the odor of marijuana coming from inside the car, the report said.

Following an investigation, a Sunset Road man, 18, was cited for possession of less than .5 ounces of marijuana and possession of drug paraphernalia, while two others — a 19-year-old from Half Mile Road and an 18-year-old from Shields Road — each were cited for possession of drug paraphernalia.
