Most importantly, the series will focus on what the community envisions for their hometown during the next 10 years and beyond.

The April 5 program will focus on the long-range economic outlook in the area, as well as the impact on environmental sustainability, and equity. During the discussion, attendees will identify key issues to examine in a follow-up session at 7 p.m. on April 22.

Panelists for the series include:

- Peter Denious, president and CEO of Advance CT, a nonprofit organization that works to engage, retain, and recruit businesses and advance overall competitiveness in Connecticut;
- Alyssa Norwood, program manager for certification and innovation at Sustainable CT; and
- Perna Rao, the founding attorney of Omnia Law in Trumbull Connecticut, which provides a range of legal services for individuals and businesses throughout Connecticut.

The program will be moderated by Stephen Saloom, director of advocacy and capacity building at Fairfield County Community Foundation.
