A rating of "C," the worst in the town's A-B-C ratings system, went to one town restaurant in the nine food health inspection reports released Thursday by Darien Health Department.

The most recent batch of reports are from inspections that took place from March 8 and 11, except for one dated Feb. 8 (Darien Seafood Market). Seven of the nine establishments inspected received a rating of "A." One more received a "B."

Keep in mind that a food-serving establishment with a history of good ratings may occasionally get a poor inspection rating, occasionally the best do, and every restaurant normally gets a few things wrong.

Here's an alphabetical list of the most recently released health inspection results (an explanation of how this list is put together is immediately below it):

—Darien Seafood Market — 1941 Post Road — Feb. 8 — Town Rating: A — State Score: 93

—Dunkin Donuts — Darien North rest stop, Interstate 95 — March 11 — Town Rating: B — State Score: 89

For restaurants and other food-serving establishments rated "C," and for some others of interest to the public (like schools) additional information is given. When we provide that information here, then words within brackets ("[]") have been added for clarity by Darienite.com; semicolons (";") separate individual comments by the inspectors. Each comment separated by semicolons is about a particular violation that triggers a deduction of one or more points from a perfect state score of 100.

How Darien's Food-Serving Places Are Rated

Restaurants in town are rated under the Darien Health Department's own A/B/C ratings system. Health inspectors also use the state health code regulations to score restaurants, with a perfect score set at 100, and demerits (of 1 to 4 points each) for various code violations.

The Darien system takes into account problems that are ongoing, so a restaurant scoring higher than others on the state scale may actually get a lower score on the Darien scale.

Any establishment actually deemed unsafe can be closed by the town Health Department until violations are fixed. Town Health Director David Knauf says that has never happened in the time he's been with the department.
